ACTING WITHOUT THE BULLSH*T

Acting Without the Bullshit is a workshop series is suitable for all levels - from seasoned professionals who need to reignite their "lure" to enthusiastic beginners curious about the actor's craft. It's an opportunity for beginners to learn from professionals, and for professionals to get fresh input whilst reconnecting with craft.

Designed to give actors the agency to make bold, embodied choices.

The Workshop

The day will start with a physical and vocal warm up followed by a range of exercises drawing on psychophysical acting techniques. In the afternoon we apply technique to devised scenes and text work. There's a lunch break between 1-2 and a kitchen on site for anyone who wishes to bring lunch. By drawing on playfulness, physical theatre and collaboration we will aproach the actors craft in a fun and freeing way.
